

From the Office of the Property Manager:

Here are some important updates and reminders!

- Please swing down the North side hall outside the Garden Court to see the new showcase window display called The Teacher and his Students by OBP resident, Jerry Kramer.
- Don't forget the Annual Meeting this year. A notice will be coming out in April with the date and time.
- When entering the garage, please make sure the light at the top of the ramp is green to ensure that the garage door is open.
- Please remember to pick up after your pet.
- If smoking outside, dispose of cigarette butts properly.
- Please clean up your storage locker and don't leave anything in the walkway.
- Only keep Association-approved items stored in your parking spaces. All bicycles must be kept in the bike garages or in the bike racks.

Thank you!

Resident Highlight - Joyce Burke-Jones

Joyce is one of our older-in-tenure-but-younger-in-spirit residents having lived at OBP for 30 years. She is retired from Cuyahoga County and was our County's first Sustainability Officer. Joyce is a past national president of ASID (American Society of Interior Designers). In addition, she worked with her husband, renowned architect Thomas Zung, as a Planner and Project Manager. Thomas was a partner of Buckminster Fuller and is semi-retired. The couple still work on projects together.

After her retirement, Joyce decided to give back to the community and ran for a seat on the Bratenahl Village Council in November 2015. After her election, she was asked to lend her talents as Chair of the Public Improvements Committee and is Council's Representative to the Shade Tree Commission.

She believes that Bratenahl is a great community and plans on living at OBP the rest of her life. She is a past board member, Association President and served on the Finance and Long Range Planning (now Maintenance and Capital Improvements) Committees, and Joyce is Chair of the OBP House Committee which is responsible for internal decorating of common areas of our building.

In the Village

Bratenahl History

History is all around us here in Bratenahl. Did you know the International Women's Air and Space Museum (IWASM) is our neighbor located just west of us at Burke Lakefront Airport? It's mission is to "collect, preserve, and showcase the history and culture of women in all areas of aviation & aerospace; educate people of the world about their contributions; and inspire future generations by bringing the history to life." In January, Cleveland's own Capt. Stephanie Johnson, pilot for Delta Airlines, came home to speak at the IWASM first Dinner with a Slice of History; you may have read the story in the PD linked here.

On Friday, April 27th, the museum will welcome Sarah Rickman, Women Airforce Service Pilots (WASP) historian and author, as guest speaker for their second Dinner with a Slice of History. Tickets are $15 for IWASM members and $17 for non-members for dinner at 6:30. p.m.

The International Women's Air and Space Museum has free admission and is open daily from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Employee Profile

Chris Matlock has been One Bratenahl Place's Resident Services Supervisor for over 18 years—a great situation for the residents and surprising to him since he took the job initially as a temporary situation.

Chris is quite active outside work and enjoys displaying his restored '74 VW Super Beetle at car shows. A favorite movie is The Love Bug (notice a theme here?) He's a great traveler including some amazing trips to Hong Kong, Soviet Union (twice), a Panama Canal Cruise, Machu Picchu, Paris, Alaska and Hawaii!

During his tenure here he has risen to challenges, including a Christmas Eve fire on the 15th floor. The Christmas season is an incredibly busy time at the desk in general making December 26th a highlight for him.

Chris works to make our lives easier including extra touches such as maintaining a cache of shipping boxes available for residents' use. USPS and FedEx shipping services are available at the desk. There have been some personnel changes at the desk; our patience is appreciated as new staff learn their roles.

We are very lucky to have Chris with us as well as the staff he oversees. Our front desk operations are a major high point of One Bratenahl Place life. We are truly grateful.

Condominiums for Sale

There are several condos for sale at One Bratenahl Place. Feel free to invite your friends or family to our Bratenahl community. For a complete listing of units that are available, click here.
